

EDSON AND MARGARET LARSON INDIGENOUS ENGINEERING SCHOLARSHIP

This scholarship provides financial assistance to Indigenous students in CEM. Awards are based on financial need, academic performance, participation in AISES and other Indigenous student organizations, and community outreach events.

This scholarship promotes workforce development by attracting Indigenous students into STEM fields. Within the college, there is support to provide internships, professional and leadership development resources, career planning, and attendance to national and regional engineering conferences and other STEM-focused programming.

AMOUNT:
Up to $10,000

DEADLINE:
March 1, 2023

Questions? Contact Beth Klemetsrud at bethany.klemetsrud@UND.edu.

FIND MORE SCHOLARSHIPS
UND.academicworks.com

BUILD YOUR FUTURE WITHOUT BREAKING THE BANK

With $8.2 million awarded annually in scholarships, UND is where you get an education that pays.

On top of that, our students receive an average of $12,900 per year in financial aid, making UND one of the most affordable universities in the region. Want to know how much your cost to attend UND will be with financial aid? Visit UND.edu/admissions/cost-and-aid/calculator to find out using our Net Price Calculator.